Student frontend-development

Currently, I am a dedicated student aspiring to become a proficient frontend developer, constantly expanding my understanding of the tech industry and my future profession. My focus extends beyond technical skills to include developing soft values like communication, teamwork, and problem-solving. My education has provided me with deeper insights into agile methodologies, especially Scrum, enhancing my ability to collaborate effectively in teams and adapt to rapid changes. I am mostly specialized in front-end but I also have learned some technical skills for the back-end as well. This additional back-end knowledge complements my front-end expertise, allowing me to better understand and integrate with the full scope of web development projects.

2022-2023

Frontend-development self-study

Through self-study at Codecademy and FreeCodeCamp, I aquired in-depth knowledge of modern web technologies, crucial for my development in frontend. To further enhance my skills, I have completed practical projects on Frontendmentor.io, creating advanced, responsive, and interactive web applications.

2012-2023

Uppsala, traveling

Professional pokerplayer

In my career as a professional poker player, participating in various tournaments and cash games, I honed my ability to navigate complex situations with skill and tact. Based in a centra office in Uppsala, shared with seasoned players, I mastered the art of balancing risk and reward, as well as maintaining composure under pressure. International travel for competitions enriched me with insights into diverse cultures and viewpoints. My career was marked not only by financial discipline and continuously adapted gaming strategies but also by a profound understanding of human behavior and psychology, crucial to my longstanding success in poker.

2008 - 2009

Artillery Regiment A9, Boden

Military Service

During my service as an artillery soldier with a focus on fire signaling, I developed not only discipline but also the ability to concentrate meticulously on each task. This experience taught me the importance of working effectively in a team, especially under stressful and challenging conditions. I learned to rapidly adapt to changing circumstances and to make decisions under time constraints, while maintaining the highest levels of safety and precision.
